La Bellaca's Host: Patrick Brown

During 30 years of outfitting for the discerning guests, entrusted to us by the most prestigious international booking agencies, we have selected the best shooting grounds in Uruguay, and perfected our services and logistics like no one else in the business in order that you might enjoy the trip of a lifetime.

Only 1 hour drive from the international airport of Montevideo with daily flights from the US, La Bellaca offers close proximity to an abundant population of doves, pigeon and perdiz.

We look forward to seeing you among our many returning guests, all of whom we regard as friends.

La Bellaca is a newly constructed seven-bedroom, native rock mansion, fully decorated and landscaped by renowned interior designer Carol Raquet.

Luxurious and very upscale, this estancia is an absolutely perfect destination for couples, families and hunters who enjoy both a variety of shooting and non-shooting activities.

PIGEONS & DOVES

Spot-wing and pigeons are seen mingling with doves everywhere in Uruguay. However, this dedicated pigeon destination offers huge flocks virtually 100% pigeons.

Shooting is done over decoys placed on rotating carousels, modeled after those used in Scotland. Expect to shoot 6-8 boxes of shells during a two-hour morning hunt.

Many experienced dove shooters claim that the dove shooting here surpasses in volume and intensity the dove shooting in Cordoba, which has long been considered the world's foremost dove-shooting destination.

PERDIZ

A River Plate classic. The spotted perdiz are several upland game birds, hunted over pointing dogs with a liberal limit of ten birds per half day hunt.

While quite secluded and very private, La Bellaca is only 45 minutes by car to Punta del Este, the “Riviera of the South”, featuring great beaches, sophisticated restaurants, spas, upscale shops, casinos and colorful nightlife. Uruguay’s capital, Montevideo, is also only 50 minutes away, offering many cultural, historical, gastronomic and luxury activities.
